

Information we may collect from you and how we use it.

We do not collect any personal information about individuals unless it is specifically and knowingly provided by them. If you decide to contact us or make use of personalised services (i.e. when you sign up for our Email Alerts (mailing list), send us an email enquiry via our Contact Form, or apply online for a job vacancy (online application form and career profile)) we may collect personal information and use that information as required for us to provide the personal services or handle your query. Examples of the private information we may collect include your name, email address, occupation and country. We may use that information to tell you about the company's latest news and financial information, to communicate with you or share information that you have asked for and to manage your online personal career profile.

When you visit our website, we also, through the use of cookies and/or other similar technologies, gather information automatically about your browser type, IP address and details of how you accessed the website and the pages you visited. We use this analytical information to help us understand how visitors use the website and make improvements to the layout, content and/or performance of the site. For more information on cookies, please see our cookies section at the end of this Privacy Statement.

Who do we share your personal data with?

We may store or transfer your personal data with other Awilco Drilling PLC companies and subsidiaries. We transfer and store your personal data with security measures in place.

In certain circumstances, we may share your information with selected contracted service providers who perform functions on our behalf such as providing IT, delivering our email alerts and other support and maintenance services that help us run the website. Our service providers will only use your information to the extent necessary to perform their functions.

Security and storage of personal data.

We place great importance on the security of all personal information associated with our website users. We have security measures in place to protect against the loss, misuse and alteration of personal information under our control. Whilst we cannot ensure or guarantee the security of information online, we use all reasonable efforts to protect it.

There are procedures and technologies to maintain the security of personal data from the point of collection to the point of destruction; these controls protect against the unlawful or unauthorised processing, accidental loss of, or damage to, personal data.

You have the right to access information held about you and to request an amendment or removal of such information if necessary.

If you have any questions about the information we hold about you or the way in which your data is being collected or used which are not answered by this Privacy Statement please contact us at DPO@awilcodrilling.com.

How long do we keep your information?

We will only hold your information for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes for which it was collected, before making it non-identifiable or deleting it.